STOPPED HIS PAPER

THE NEWS recently received a note from a subscriber saying that unless some of his neighbors subscribed for the paper, he would have to discontinue his subscription. He said that some of his neighbors seem to beat him to it most of the time.

THE NEWS receives many complaints from subscribers who say their neighbors continually borrow their paper, often before the subscribers have read it. And then the subscribers put the blame on the carriers.

If you are reading a borrowed paper to-day, you should ask yourself whether you are inconveniencing a neighbor who is too good-natured to refuse to be annoyed. You, of course, do not intend to do so, but if you are borrowing a paper you are causing the subscriber much annoyance.

Think it over and then become a subscriber, and have your own paper delivered to you.
